

August 1 The American Board of Pediatrics Roadmap Project: Addressing the Emotional Health for Children and Youth with Chronic Conditions and Their Families (MOC Eligible)

Carole Lannon, MD, MPH, Professor of Pediatrics, Cincinnati Children's

Lori Crosby, PsyD, Professor of Pediatrics, Cincinnati Children's

Meg Didier, Patient Partner

Robyn Kinebrew, Patient Partner

- Describe the impact of a chronic condition on the emotional health of children and families
- Apply resources to support the emotional health of children with chronic conditions and their families
- Recognize bias as it impacts the emotional health of those living with chronic conditions

Add to Calendar

August 8 Is It All in our Heads? Rethinking Communication about Pediatric Somatic Symptoms

Nicole Zahka, PhD, Pediatric Psychologist Division of Behavioral Medicine and Clinical Psychology, Cincinnati Children's

- Describe historical and conceptual models of somatic symptoms
- Recognize biopsychosocial factors related to development and maintenance of somatic symptoms
- Identify communication strategies to engage patients and families in treatment

Add to Calendar

August 15 Beyond Survival: Investigating the Long-Term Cognitive Consequences of Severe Malaria

Chandy C. John, MD, MS, Director, Ryan White Center for Pediatric Infectious Diseases and Global Health, Indiana University and Riley Hospital for Children; Ryan White Endowed Chair in Pediatric Infectious Diseases, Indiana University

- Describe the frequency of cognitive impairment after severe malaria
- Identify the pathways that may lead to cognitive impairment after severe malaria
- Identify potential interventions to reduce cognitive impairment after severe malaria

Add to Calendar

August 22 The Role of Pelvic Floor Physical Therapy in the Evaluation and Treatment of Pediatric Constipation

Khalil El-Chammas, MD, MS, Cincinnati Children's

Jason Frischer, MD, Cincinnati Children's

Sarah Fox, PT, DPT, Cincinnati Children's

- Review the constipation treatment spectrum
- Define Pelvic Floor Therapy and what it involves
- Discuss the ways Pelvic Floor Therapy can help with bowel/bladder/pain management

Add to Calendar

August 29 Getting Off to a Running Start: Engaging Families in Early Childhood Obesity Treatment and Prevention

Davene Wright, MD, Assistant Professor, Department of Population Medicine, Harvard Medical School and Harvard Pilgrim Health Care Institute; Associate Director, Division of Child Health Research and Policy (CHERP); Faculty Member, Division of Chronic Disease Across the Lifecourse (CoRAL)

- Discover psychological constructs that may prevent parents from accessing necessary preventive care
- Examine structural barriers to engagement in obesity treatment and prevention
- Devise behavioral economic-based approaches for encouraging behavior change

Add to Calendar