

August 30 We Can't Do It by Ourselves: Demonopolizing Specialty Care through Project ECHO
Kathleen M Kramer MAT, PMP, RT(R), Sr Consultant - Center for Telehealth, Program Manager Project ECHO, Cincinnati Children's Emily Harris, MD, MPH, FAAP, Pediatrician, Child and Adolescent Psychiatrist. UC SOM Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Neuroscience, Division of Child Psychiatry, Associate Professor of Clinical Affiliate, Cincinnati Children's Jessica McClure, PsyD, Medical Director of Behavioral Health for HealthVine, and Director of Mental Health Clinical Initiatives, Mind Brain Behavior Collaborative in the Division of Behavioral Medicine and Clinical Psychology at Cincinnati Children's

- Distinguish the Project ECHO model from traditional learning experiences
- Recognize how to use the ECHO model to improve access to evidenced based specialty interventions within the medical home

Add to Calendar

September 6 Ghory Lecture
CCHMC Journey to the First FDA Approved Drug for Eosinophilic Esophagitis
Marc Rothenberg, MD, PhD, Professor of Pediatrics, Bunning Chair of Allergy and Immunology, Director, Division of Allergy and Immunology, Director, Cincinnati Center for Eosinophilic Disorders, Director, Consortium of Gastrointestinal Disease Researchers (CEGIR), Cincinnati Children's

- Describe the clinical features of eosinophilic esophagitis
- Discuss the basic pathogenesis and treatment of eosinophilic esophagitis

Add to Calendar

September 13 Schwartz Center Rounds
Experiences of Moral Distress while Practicing Medicine in a Highly Politicized Environment
Andrew F. Beck, MD, MPH, FAAP, Associate Professor of Pediatrics, Faculty Co-Lead, Community & Population Health, Medical Director, Population Health Research & Innovation, HealthVine
Emmanuel L. Chandler, MD, Assistant Professor of Pediatrics, University of Cincinnati College of Medicine, Associate Division Director-Clinical Operations and Medical Director, Division of Adolescent and Transition Medicine, Medical Director, Hamilton County Youth Court Center, Cincinnati Children's Margaret N. Jones, MD, NRSA Research Fellow, General and Community Pediatrics, Cincinnati Children's

(This presentation will not be recorded)

Add to Calendar

September 20 Opioids and Public Health
Evan D. Kharasch, MD, PhD, Merel H. Harmel Distinguished Professor of Anesthesiology Vice Chair for Innovation, Department of Anesthesiology, Duke University, Editor-In-Chief of Anesthesiology

- Discuss the history and present facts about the opioid crisis
- Describe what actions can be taken to maximize analgesic benefit and minimize harms

Add to Calendar

September 27 Reimagining Tracheostomy Decision-Making
Tessie October, MD, MPH, Pediatric Critical Care and Palliative Medicine, Pediatric Trauma and Critical Illness Branch of Eunice Kennedy Shriver National Institute of Child Health and Human Development, NICHD within the National Institutes of Health (NIH)

- Identify values most important to families making tracheostomy decisions for their critically ill child
- Implement strategies to discuss tracheostomy decision-making with families of critically ill children

Add to Calendar